GRIFFITH MADE PRESIDENT OF DAIL EIREANN

De Valera Walks Out as His Successor Is Unanimously Elected—New Cabinet Is Formed—Free State to be Effected Soon

DUBLIN (By Associated Press)—Arthur Griffith was elected president of the Dail Eireann today. Eamon De Valera and his followers walked out while the vote was being taken, in protest against the nomination of Griffith. Speaker MacNeill put the motion for Griffith's election and he was unanimously chosen.

Griffith moved the appointment of the following: Minister of finance, Michael Collins; foreign affairs, George Gavan Duffy; home affairs, Eamon Duggan; local government, William T. Cosgrave; economic affairs, Bryan O'Higgins; defense, Richard Mulcahy.

The speedy formation of a provisional government for Ireland was urged upon the Dail Eireann by Michael Collins shortly after the opening of today's session. The Dail resumed its sittings at 11:30 o'clock.

Griffith was placed in nomination by Michael Collins shortly after the beginning of the session. As matters stood, said Collins, Ireland was without a leader. He again charged the opposition with obstructionist tactics and declared its desire was to create the impression that Ireland was still unfriendly to England and to discredit the supporters of the treaty, the present course of the Dail, he persisted in, would give England an excuse for remaining in Ireland, he declared.

Griffith quizzed Eamon De Valera asked Griffith whether he intended, if elected, to act as the executive of the republic. The Dail Eireann, he said, was representative of the republic and of nothing else. Peace was not established by the treaty, he declared, as the struggle for the republic would continue.

"This body," added De Valera, "has no right to give away its powers unless it is established as a republican government."

Answering the questions of the opposition, Griffith said that if elected he would use his position to give effect to the constitutional vote of the Dail to carry out the terms of the treaty.

De Valera continued to press for a definite answer to his question whether Griffith would act as the executive of the republic. "The republic of Ireland," replied Griffith, "remains in being until the free state comes into being and there is an opportunity to put the question before the electorate."

Griffith said the Dail had approved the treaty and that it must be carried into effect. "Therefore," he added, "we must have a provisional government."

SKETCH OF NEW CHIEF—Arthur Griffith was one of the founders of the Sinn Fein movement and has been among the foremost leaders directing its activities. He was formerly an editor at Dublin and later established the paper, United Irishman, followed by the Sinn Fein and then the Nationality.

In October, 1917, he was elected president of the Sinn Fein conference in Dublin. He was later nominated as the Sinn Fein delegate from Cavan. During the peace conference at Paris in 1919, he was chosen as an Irish delegate to go to Paris and present the Irish case, but failure to get a safe conduct prevented his attendance.

In July, 1919, he was elected acting president of the Irish national assembly in the absence of Eamon De Valera in the United States. Later in October 1919, he was elected one of the permanent vice-presidents of the Sinn Fein organization. He was arrested in Dublin in November, 1920, and spent seven months in Mountjoy prison. During his imprisonment he issued a message to the Irish people as to the conduct of the Sinn Fein organization. An attempt was made to rescue him from prison, but the armored car used for the purpose failed to carry out the plan.

The return of De Valera from America was attributed to Griffith's imprisonment as De Valera on his return resumed the active direction of Sinn Fein affairs. Early in June last, there were reports of a London conference at which Irish leaders would be invited to consult with members of the British cabinet. Griffith was mentioned among the probable delegates. His release from prison followed on June 21 last.

SIX INCH GUNS FOR TRADE SHIPS

Merchantmen Arms Limited by Conference Committee

TREATY NEARS COMPLETION

Will be Published to World Thursday or Friday

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Delegations of the five naval powers continued today their separate study of the treaty draft prepared by naval and legal experts to cover their naval limitation agreement preliminary to a meeting later in the day of delegation heads to compare opinions on detailed provisions of the draft. The treaty was given to the several delegations for study late yesterday and the time required for this caused a postponement of the meeting of the full naval committee originally planned for today, until tomorrow. The committee was expected, however, to reach final agreement on the text within two or three days and the treaty to be ready for publication to the world at a plenary session of the conference on Thursday or Friday.

NEW FEATURES—Although a carefully guarded secret in both substance and text the tentative draft is understood to include a number of wholly new features, chief among these a proposal to extend the duration of the pact until 1937, this not to affect, however, the ten year period of the naval holiday. Another new provision would authorize construction of warships on foreign account within the jurisdiction of the five powers, the size limitations on such ships to conform with those in the treaty.

MERCHANTMEN GUNS—The treaty draft would settle the merchant ship problem by limiting the armament of merchantmen to six inch guns, thus making armament of merchantmen definitely inferior to regular or converted naval auxiliary vessels which may carry eight inch guns and also, it is understood by prohibiting the conversion of any commercial vessel of more than 10,000 tons into a naval auxiliary. Although it was expected these provisions would be finally accepted, the merchant ship problem was still one of the questions of definition which were understood to be the chief points to agree on a working acceptable to everyone.

FAR EAST SITUATION—With the armament program of the conference nearing final disposition, the delegates were preparing today to press to an early conclusion also the Far Eastern discussions and to this end it was apparent that Shantung negotiations were being turned into new channels with revived hopes of agreement. The nature of the latest move had not been revealed, but both the Chinese and Japanese implied that new and promising elements had been injected into the negotiations. Believing that the other remaining elements of discord in the Far East were not of a nature to lead to extended debate, some of the delegates were so optimistic regarding the outlook as to predict a plenary session for Saturday or Monday to announce completion of the Far Eastern treaty.

Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation, had completed definite arrangements today to sail for home next Tuesday and his colleagues on the delegation said it was entirely probable that he would sign the Far Eastern agreement before his departure.

THE INFANT EARL OF SHREWSBURY (LEFT) AND MRS. ELEANOR BROWNLEE

The contest involves the $3,000,000 estate of the late Earl of Shrewsbury, the bulk of which was left to Mrs. Brownlee. The contest is the infant Earl of Shrewsbury.

Mrs. Brownlee came to England from the Argentine. She began immediately to make large sums by clever race track plays.

MAJOR HUME IS IN CHARGE

Blanks and Instructions to be Issued Tonight

Certification of application blanks for adjusted compensation for Ohio service men will be inaugurated simultaneously in all parts of Allen-co, Wednesday.

Headquarters for Lima and central office for Allen-co will be located in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, Business College building. It will be under the direct supervision of Major Frank Hume.

Other offices where applications will be certified will be Delphos, Spencerville, West Cairo, Beaverdam and Buffon. Other places to be determined.

Applicants should bring their original discharge, or certificate of service. No other identification is needed, Major Hume declared.

Major Hume and his corps of office workers, ex-soldiers who have volunteered to help, face a herculean task in the next two weeks. They expect to be deluged with applications.

Hundreds of Allen-co service men are practically destitute. It is going to be a hard task to care for all of them at once.

"I could use a battery of ten typists," declared Hume, "but the state allows no money to pay for them."

WAGE ROW UP TO LABOR BOARD

Disputes Between Railroads and Clerks to be Decided

EIGHT HOUR DAY DEMANDED

Also Extra Pay for Overtime Asked by Employees

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Extra pay for overtime work and the eight-hour day were the principal points sought by railroad clerks in controversies over the rules of the clerks' national agreement which were up for consideration by the United States railroad labor board today. The board expected to complete its draft of the new rules within two weeks and promulgated a new set of rules to replace the agreement made under federal control is looked for by February 1.

Eight rules of the old agreement affect the clerks' pay and these rules have been subject of the greatest disagreement in negotiations during the last few months. Like the national agreements of other groups of railroad employees, the clerks' agreement was ordered replaced by new rules which the board directed the employees and the carriers to draw up by agreement.

EIGHT HOURS AGREE—Forty-four roads submitted disagreements on rule 57, calling for time and one-half pay after eight hours work, which the clerks wish continued. Eight roads have agreed with their clerks to pay pro rata time after eight hours, but other carriers are asking no extra pay for the ninth hour, pro rata for the tenth and one-half after ten hours.

The large majority of carriers desire to abolish time and one-half for Sunday and holiday work, also, except after ten hours.

Monthly and weekly basis of pay are sought by which about two thirds of the roads involved as opposed to a daily rate basis which the employees ask to be continued. Another rule which the employees ask to be retained provides three hours pay for two hours work for calls, and time and one half thereafter when the full weekly assignment of hours has not been worked. The roads seek elimination of any punitive payment under these rules.

REPARATIONS QUESTION—The supreme council is to discuss the reparations question with a German delegation, headed by Dr. Walter Rathenau. After this is disposed of the council will have left to consider only the question of the Angora agreement between France and the Turkish Nationalists.

The council plans to impress upon the German delegation the fact that the allies can no longer tolerate disorder in Germany's finances. Germany will be asked immediately to reduce the number of public functionaries, increase railroad freight and passenger rates and pass laws preventing exodus of capital. Upon the assurance the German delegation is able to give of carrying out these reforms depends the final decision of the council as to whether to reinforce the guarantees to the allies as authorized by the treaty of Versailles.

BRITAIN PLEDGES FRANCE WAR AID

Will Protect Her Against Attack By Germany

CANNES — (By Associated Press) — Notification of endorsement by the British cabinet of the written pledge binding Great Britain immediately aid France to the full extent of her military and naval resources in case of aggression by Germany is expected from London by tonight. The pact, agreed upon by Premiers Briand and Lloyd George was telegraphed to the British capital last night.

The council planned to recess today until five p. m. while a subcommittee engages in the delicate task of framing an invitation to the forthcoming international financial and economic conference to a country which has already formally accepted. This situation arose from the action of the Russian soviet government which in its eagerness to be represented at the Geneva meeting, sent a regular acceptance to the council's tentative query if an invitation would be acceptable under certain conditions.

4 OTHERS MAY DIE AS RESULT OF FATAL CRASH

Pennsylvania Freight Train Hits School Motor Bus on Crossing Near Van Wert—Bodies of Youth Scattered About Railroad Right of Way

Driver Fails to See Train and Drives Onto Track With 28 Pupils of Ridge-top School—List of Killed and Injured Compiled

Three children are known to have been killed and more than 20 injured seriously when an east bound Pennsylvania railroad freight train, running thru a heavy fog, struck a school bus loaded with 28 school children at Dolby's crossing, four miles east of Van Wert, at 8 a. m. Tuesday.

Two children escaped with minor injuries. Eight were taken to Van Wert—co hospital in Van Wert.

THREE DIE INSTANTLY IN FATAL CROSSING CRASH

The dead are: Lucille Fackler, 13, daughter of John Fackler, wealthy farmer. Body cut in two. Mangled beyond recognition. Jessie Fackler, 11, her sister, skull crushed and body broken and bruised. The bodies of the two little girls were lying close together when found.

Marietta Imler, 7, daughter of Ray Imler, both limbs cut off. Rolland Imler, 8, brother of Marietta, right arm and left leg cut off.

Lawrence Overholtz, 10, skull fractured. Josephine Stageman, 13, fracture of skull.

Seriously injured: Paul Imler, 9, scalp wounds. Dallas Harshman, 14, cuts in the head and shoulders.

Anna Stageman, 17, body lacerated, head and shoulders cut. Audrey Botkins, 18, scalp wound.

Joe Overholtz, 20, driver, bruised and lacerated. Five others taken to the hospital have not been identified. Many others were taken to their homes or farms in the vicinity of the accident and their names are difficult to learn.

The bus was enroute to the Ridge-top centralized school and was a little more than a mile from its destination when the tragedy occurred.

A heavy fog blanket obscured vision for a considerable distance.

As the death truck drew near the track at Dolby's crossing, Joe Overholt, the bus driver, stopped and alighted, it is said. He walked to the center of the track.

FOG PREVENTS SIGHT OF TRAIN AS IT BEARS DOWN ON TRUCK

He could hear or see nothing, he declared. Overholt returned to his truck and with its human freight started to climb the slight elevation to the tracks. Considerably power was needed to make the grade.

As the truck topped the grade, out of the fog, to the west appeared the dim black outlines of a locomotive, ploughing toward the truck.

The left side of the pilot struck the bus and hurled it 75 feet down the tracks.

Few of the children caught in the death trap were able to assist the others.

WILL CHARGE MANSLAUGHTER—Engineer J. E. Trimble, Fort Wayne, declared he could not see the bus on the track. He told authorities he sounded the whistle near the crossing as a warning. His assertion is denied by survivors and residents near the scene of the accident.

Trimble, W. J. Koons, fireman, and James Raines, conductor, all of Fort Wayne, will be charged with manslaughter. Carl Dunifon, Van Wert-co prosecutor, declared at noon Tuesday.

AMBULANCES CALLED—Three ambulances and all available physicians in Van Wert were rushed to the scene of the crash. Preparations were made at Van Wert county hospital here to receive the injured children as soon as they were given first aid and could be moved.

There were 28 children in the bus when it was hit. It being one of the four which takes the pupils each morning to the township school.

The Chas. Siferd ambulance was called from Lima and all available invalid coaches were ordered from Delphos.

Additional injured taken to their homes and the hospital are: Gertrude Belt, daughter of Frank Belt; Dallas Belt, a brother; Grace Duprey, daughter of F. M. Dunne; Marcella Ireton, Truena, De Camp, Paul Marvie, Pauline Gamble, Mary Evelyn Grant, William and James Grant, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grant, and Harold West.

All of the children are more or less injured. Some have broken arms, others broken limbs, or are cut and bruised.

HORRIBLE SIGHT PRESENTED—The locality of the tragedy presented a terrible sight, observers say. The truck was completely demolished. When the first help reached the scene, cries of the survivors and dying were heard.

Death came unexpectedly to the little Fackler sisters and Marietta Imler. They were seated together in the bus, when the giant locomotive loomed out of the fog and crushed the truck like an egg shell with its mighty force. Speed of the train is estimated at 30 miles an hour.

News of the terrible occurrence spread like wildfire over the countryside.

Frantic mothers and agonized fathers whose little ones were in the bus set out for the scene. Some did not wait for a conveyance, but ran to the place. Several mothers are said to have run for distances as great as two miles.

MOTHERS ARE PROSTRATED—They began searching among the mangled children for their own. Many of the women were prostrated. Some fainted on being told the tragic news.

It was at first reported that 20 children had died.

Ambulances, physicians and nurses were rushed to the spot from Lima, Van Wert and Delphos. A special train on the Pennsylvania carried medical aid from Lima.

NATION OF PERFECT THIRTY-SIXES IN MAKING

(BY DON E. CHAMBERLAIN)

MANSFIELD — (United Press) — A nation of perfect "thirtysixes" was visualized today as Dr. W. H. Brown of the Child Health Demonstration began work with this all-American town as a laboratory.

Dr. Brown, former city health officer of Bridgeport, Conn., and with the Rockefeller Foundation in France, started a five-year experiment with Mansfield's children to concoct a recipe for all American cities to copy in producing a perfect race.

The demonstrations—to save the "kids" will include the schools, home life, factories, wages, food, clothing and everything that affects living conditions. A fund of $200,000 has been provided for the work by the American Red Cross, American Child Hygiene Association, Child Health Commission of America, Child Labor Committee, National Tuberculosis Association and National Organization for Public Health Nursing.

Dr. Brown began work on a program to use all known remedies to fight disease and conserve child life. The result, Dr. Brown believes, will be a formula to make future men and women perfect in health.

The experiment followed results of draft board examinations during the war, showing widespread neglect of health education.

"We plan to develop a program that will be practical financially and socially for any American community to apply in order that it may conserve child life, both by prevention of disease and promotion of health," Dr. Brown said today.

"We plan to watch the water and milk supply, educate the children in the schools to take care of their health, study the home life, what the family income is and what the working conditions in the factories and the homes are and so develop a program that will correct any evils and make for the raising of healthy children."

City Manager Clarence A. Bingham or a member of the city commission will announce the event, which is national. High schools, individuals and business men will observe the week in various ways, relative to creating thrift. Addresses will be made and the general public will be urged to practice thrift thru budget systems, careful buying and prompt payment of obligations.

Special speakers will address noon luncheon classes in the high schools once each day and practice of thrift will be shown by motion picture houses in their regular program.

S. C. Biddle, industrial secretary of the T. M. C. A. is providing speakers and arranging programs for the observance of the occasion.

RAIN OR SNOW IS FORECASTED

Indications of a breakup of existing desirable weather conditions were had from a perusal of the forecast for the day, Tuesday.

Increasing cloudiness, followed by snow in north and rain or snow in south portion tonight and Wednesday is the prediction. There will be little or no wind on Wednesday, which indicates that if moisture comes, "it will be in the form of rain, rather than snow."

Contemplating weather conditions, one is impelled to the belief that the sort we've been enjoying for several days is too good to last.

RADIO-PHONE TEST AT ROTARY MEET

Annual Banquet Brilliant Affair With Excellent Program

An extended program staged at the annual banquet of the Rotary club, at the Elks Home Monday night, delayed switching in on the radio-phones until a late hour. Only a fair demonstration of the radio was given 370 persons, Rotarians, their ladies and guests.

Phonograph selections projected from a station operated by Waldo Hauenstein, 453 E. Shawnee-av, were reproduced and snippets of music from various sources were heard by the assembly.

The demonstration of the radio-phones was made possible for Rotarians and their guests thru the courtesy of John A. Harrison of the Lima Telephone and Telegraph Co., a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, with the cooperation of Chester Hall, R. S. Campbell, Sam Greenland and J. J. Cline of Ft. Wayne.

A very clever explanation of the device and its operation was given by Hall, for the benefit of the uninitiated.

A message of greeting from the president of the Ft. Wayne club, sent from a radio-phonograph station in that city, was given to the assembly by President George Bayly. The president of the Ft. Wayne club also happens to possess the same name as that of the head of the Lima club.

At the conclusion of the banquet, President Bayly gave a review of Rotary work for the year. The program was opened by the singing of "America" by the assembly. "The Star Spangled Banner" was given by the Chick Foltz orchestra. Arrangements for the entire event were very cleverly handled by Fred C. Dorries and his committee.

Pictures of 16 crippled children, grouped and framed, presented to Rotary, expressed appreciation of Rotary for providing them with educational advantages and treatment for their affliction. They are students at the Rotary Crippled Children's school.

"Twelve thousand crippled children in Ohio love you for what you are doing for them," the message from the children reads.

Rotary is staging a prosperity campaign all over the country, with appropriate signs on billboards everywhere. These are appearing in Lima, suggesting "Buy, Build, Work." "Create a Job for Every Man," and others of a similar character.

President Bayly pledged anew the loyalty of the Rotary club to the new city administration.

Excellent features of the unusually entertaining program were selections by Domingo's Filipino entertainers, appearing at the Lyric; vocal solos and duets by Berda Boring, Helen Bowers and Pearl Bowers; solos by Prof. G. A. Luman of Bluffton College, choral dancing by Little Elizabeth Greenidge, a student of Miss Margaret Schultz; solo by Perry Wright.

Dancing was enjoyed after the closing of the program.

ARMED PACT MADE AIR-TIGHT

Special Provisions Against Loopholes Inserted

WASHINGTON.—(By United Press)—Special provisions to guard against "loopholes" in the new naval limitation treaty that might lead to war, have been inserted in the pact by the arms conference.

Every effort has been made to make the treaty an "air-tight" document for the preservation of the peace of the world.

These "anti-loopholes" provisions, heretofore unrevealed, but made available to the United Press today, are:

1. The contracting powers pledge themselves not to use for war purposes any war vessels they are building for other nations. Under this clause, a nation could not seize vessels on the ways in its own country in case of war.

2. The contracting power pledge themselves not to sell old vessels to other nations which might become war vessels for these other powers. This is designed to prevent vessels destined for the scrap heap from being sold outside. New vessels can be built for outside nations.

Another provision hitherto secret, permits the contracting nations to retain two vessels each—from the scrapping list—to be converted into aircraft carriers, even if they exceed the 2,000-ton limit.

Q. 24.—Does a taxpayer have to report to the government amounts of income paid to individuals?

A.—Yes, if you pay to any person during the year salary, rent, interest, commission or other income amounting to $1,000 or more you are required to file a return of information showing the amount and the name and address of the person to whom paid. Proper forms for this return can be secured from the collector for your district.

Q. 25.—What rate of depreciation can be claimed on buildings?

A.—The rate of depreciation now generally recognized by the government is 2 per cent on brick buildings and 3 per cent on frame buildings. This is an annual allowance based on the cost of the building only.

This deduction can only be claimed on business or rented property and is not allowed on a residence in which the taxpayer lives. It is allowable, however, on a residence which he rents to another person.

Q. 26.—John Smith conducts a hardware store. On Dec. 31, 1920, his inventory was $15,000. During the year he purchased $25,000 worth of goods and his sales for the year were $75,000. On Dec. 31, 1921, his inventory was $17,000. How do these items enter into Smith's income tax return?

A.—The inventory at the beginning of the year, $15,000, is added to the purchase, $25,000, making $40,000, from which the inventory at the end of the year, $17,000, is deducted, leaving $23,000, which represents the "cost of goods sold." This, deducted from the sales, $75,000, leaves $52,000, which is the "gross profit" from the business. In addition he can deduct his general expenses, losses, depreciation, etc., to determine his net income.

Q. 27.—An individual owns an apartment house and lives in one of the apartments with his family. The entire building is heated by one furnace and owned, furnished, heated, light, water, and janitor for the entire block. How should the apartment figure in the owner's return?

A.—The owner must determine how much of the cost of heating, lighting, etc., is attributable to his own apartment, and the balance of such cost may be deducted from gross income as an expense. Depreciation should be apportioned in the same manner. The rental value of his own apartment need not be included in gross income but the entire amount of rent received from the other apartments must be returned.

Q. 28.—An attorney supporting a family owns an automobile used both for business and pleasure. He employs an assistant and a stenographer in his office. He pays club dues, subscribes to legal publications and books and donates to charitable organizations. How should these items be treated?

A.—The part of the automobile expense apportioned to the time it is used for business is an allowable expense. The salaries of the assistant and stenographer are a business expense. Club dues are not allowable deductions unless a strictly business club such as a Chamber of Commerce.

Legal publication and business books as well as donations are allowable deductions.

REVALUATION UPHELD BY COURT'S DECISION

YOUNGSTOWN.—Taxes in Marching-co for 1921 will be paid on the revaluation made last year, under which the taxation value of property in the county was increased $105,000,000, according to a decision handed down by Common Pleas Judge R. L. Cameron of Marysville, and received here today. The duplicate in Youngstown is increased $30,000,000 by the revaluation, which has been the subject of litigation since it was made. The city and school administrations have been without funds this month because the litigation held up collection of taxes.

The revaluation was the subject of one of the planks of Mayor George L. Olea's famous platform, in which he said that if elected he would "kill anyone who paid taxes under the new valuation."

MEET TO PASS ON NEWBERRY CASE

Republicans in Conference to Decide on Ouster

WASHINGTON.—(By United Press).—Senator Newberry's fate was to be decided here today in an informal conference of half a dozen Republican senators. They were to discuss this question:

Did Newberry's defense to the senate yesterday adequately answer the charge that his seat was virtually bought by the lavish use of money in his campaign?

The group that met today included Willis, Ohio; McNary, Oregon; Capper, Kansas, and several other "wavering" Republicans. They recently sent word to administration leaders that unless Newberry spoke in his own defense, they would vote to oust him.

These senators have the decisive vote—they and George Wharton Pepper, the new senator from Pennsylvania, who was sworn in today to succeed Senator Penrose. The possibility was recognized by party leaders that Pepper's vote might be decisive. Old guard Republican leaders met him almost as soon as he stepped from his train and he was quickly and thoroughly instructed how he should vote in the Newberry case.

Newberry's opponents also went after Pepper whose progressive record in the past has made him an object of more than usual interest in the senate.

MOTHER DOOMED BY SON'S STORY

Convicted of Murder on Testimony of Lad

(BY MILTON BRONNER.)

PARIS.—(Special).—"Pardon Maman!" (French for "pardon mother.")

The cry rang out in the dark court room at Quimper in Brittany.

It was the appeal of an 11-year-old boy—shouted just before he gave testimony that sent his mother to prison for 20 years.

Louise Niquet, the mother, sat in the prisoner's docket. She was accused of the murder of her 7-year-old son, Bernard, and of the attempted murder of another son, Armand, 11.

One morning the mother went out walking with her sons along the Brittany sea coast. She returned alone and said the boys had been buried over a cliff by a goat.

By the boy's death she would be come heir to a small property their dead father had left them and would be free to marry a man who said he did not want the embarrassment of children.

ONE NEVER RETURNED.

Bernard never returned. Armand did—several days later, bruised and bleeding. He told his story to a neighbor, a fisherman. Then realized it might make trouble for his mother—and kept silent.

At the trial Armand was suddenly brought into court. He refused to answer questions.

Finally the judge said: "I will not ask you if your mother pushed you into the sea. But answer me this: When you told the fisherman of the fair did you tell the truth?"

Armand, held his arm out to his mother, shouted, "Pardon maman," and then, to the judge, whispered, "Yes."

Louise Niquet was saved from the guillotine—but drew a 20-year term at hard labor.

As she was being led away she said: "See what you have done to your mother, little one. Some day, when you are a man, you will know bitter remorse."

And, as the mother was taken away, Armand repeated shrilly, "Pardon maman!"

COLT HEADS NEW SERVER BOARD

Rough Trial January 20—Prob-ers File Their Report

Decision to conduct a hearing of the charges preferred by former Mayor F. A. Burkhardt, against O. J. Roush, suspended police head, January 20, at 8:30 a. m., the date set by the former civil service commission, was made Monday when the new body organized for business.

M. P. Colt was selected chairman of the commission.

Roush had intended asking that the commission set the date forward but did not make such a request when the commission met Monday.

Hearing of the charges will probably be held in the old council chamber in city hall. The room was the scene of the Gobel-Berle trial, the most expensive case tried in criminal court during 1921.

The investigation will subpoena 27 witnesses who will aid in the defense of the deposed police head. The city may summon many more, perhaps half a hundred. Among them will be police officers, including Chief M. F. Dawson. The trial may continue several days.

The investigation board, which probed the allegations against Roush, has filed its report with Manager Bingham, Earl Ludwig, chairman, declared Tuesday.

Additional findings, cannot be used in the trial. Roush will face only the 12 allegations made originally, it is stated.

4 DEAD; 24 HURT IN CRASH

Went in a frenzy of excitement over the affair.

Engineer Trimble is held technically on $5,000 bond. The crew was allowed to proceed to Middletown, and were there relieved.

Charges of manslaughter were filed against Trimble at noon by Ray L. Imber, father of the little girls. Affidavits were issued by Justice A. C. Gilpin.

WRECK PROBE ORDERED

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press).—The state public utilities commission on receiving an account of the accident near Van Wert, that cost the lives of three school children and serious injury of nine others, immediately detailed inspectors to ascertain the exact cause of the accident.

"The accidents are becoming so common that it is the purpose of the state to find the cause of them and to prevent their future occurrence so far as possible," Secretary Baird of the commission said.

The report of the Pennsylvania company to the commission said that the children were killed and nine injured.

CLASHES HOLD UP PAY OF CLEVELAND EMPLOYES

CLEVELAND.—City employees, for the second time in two weeks, will have their pay held up as a result of clashes in which Mayor Kohler appears as the leading figure.

This developed today thru failure of city council to pass on an emergency ordinance, appropriating $2,212,000 for two months' expenditures.

The ordinance was introduced following a ruling that no bills, or salaries can be paid without an appropriation from council.

Pay of city employees was first held up in Kohler's fight against the previous administration's efforts to liquidate $700,000 in unpaid bills.

Bingham, city manager, Harry Osgood, city clerk and M. F. Dawson, chief of police, was presented in common pleas court Tuesday. Lewis asked that his license be not revoked.

The court reserved decision until a review is made of documents submitted.

Oral arguments were presented by counsel for both sides. Judge Becker set no time for handing down of decision in the case.

FIRE TAKES TOLL OF $650,000

Big Buildings in Louisville Pitts-burgh and Canton Burned

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(By Associated Press).—Fire early today partially destroyed one of Louisville's historic buildings, the old Courier-Journal office building. Fourth and Liberty-sts, for almost half a century the home of the Courier-Journal. Newspaper estimates, made after a hurried canvass of the owners of the building and the occupants, place the loss at approximately $300,000. Early estimates were double this amount.

PITTSBURGH.—(By Associated Press).—Fire which swept the Elchbaum building in the Fifth-ave retail district today caused damage estimated at $550,000. For two hours after the firemen responded to a general alarm they were unable to enter the building, being driven back again and again by great volumes of dense smoke which rolled from the floors occupied by a five and ten cent store.

CANTON.—The plant of the Canton Tin Co. located at Louisville, near here, was destroyed by fire early today and the garage of the Louisville Motor Car Co., adjoining was badly damaged by the flames. The total loss will exceed $100,000. Two companies of firemen from Canton checked the fire which for a time threatened destruction of the entire village.

WELTY GIVES KIWANIS CANAL FACTS IN ADDRESS

Benjamin F. Welty, former Representative in Congress, spoke to members of the Kiwanis club Tuesday noon on "Transportation."

Kiwanians occupied the full reserved seating space in the Argonne to hear Welty and enjoy another of the snappy musical programs prepared by the entertainment committee.

Walter Jackson, attorney, will head a party of Lima Kiwanians on the occasion of the presentation of a charter to Celina Tuesday evening. Arrangements are being made for a special car to make the trip. Reservations for the event are being made now, Clayton Payne, secretary, said.

STRAWBERRIES AT DORSEYS.

PLAN IS PROPOSED TO AID OHIO'S UNEMPLOYED

COLUMBUS.—Jeff Davis, self-styled "king of the hoboes," has submitted a plan to Governor Davis and Director of Industrial Relations Teltow to aid Ohio's unemployed. He would have all persons earning less than $1,000 a year contribute two and a half and those earning more than $1,000 five per cent of their weekly wage, to a fund to assist those out of work. The hobo king estimates that $85,000 a week could be raised in this manner.

It is understood that both the governor and Director Teltow were interested in the proposition.

79 DIE AS RESULT OF HATRED

Feeling Against Europeans by Egyptians Cause Riot

FACTS REVEALED BY PROBE

Political Advantage Sought Thru Shedding of Blood

LONDON — (By Associated Press) — Fanatical hatred of Europeans by Egyptians is one of the causes assigned by a military court for the rioting in Alexandria in May last which resulted in 79 deaths. The court has found, after an investigation, that the outbreak was provoked by adherents of Said Zagloul Pasha, Nationalist leader, who are said by the court to have determined to reap political advantage by forcing the government to shed the blood of Egyptians.

"The Egyptian view of the case is that the riots were caused by Greeks firing on peaceful demonstrations," the court states in conclusion. The demonstrations were not unpeaceful and there is no evidence that the Greeks started the trouble by firing.

MOBS ORGANIZED

"There is no doubt, moreover, that the mobs had a very definite organization. The court has found no evidence as to what this organization was or by whom it was directed. The court draws attention to a very important fact: Always there has existed in Egypt, at any rate among the lower classes, a fanatical hatred of Europeans. It has shown itself again and again.

"This outbreak in Alexandria happened because the people thought the hand of the government was relaxing and that the authorities dare not act against them. They took two days for preparation and then the long pent hatred of Europeans burst out. If this is not the correct view it is difficult to understand why the police should have joined in, or why the soldiers of the Third Battalion, Egyptian Army, who had arrived from Cairo only the day before, should have forgotten their discipline and used their arms to shoot down Europeans in the streets.

FEELING STILL ALIVE

"Given similar circumstances, this feeling will always manifest itself in the future, as it has done in the past, and a very long period of time must elapse before this feeling can be eradicated."

The Italian, French and Greek consuls gave evidence. They solemnly protested, states the report, against the treatment of their nationals, and stated that they could never consent to their being protected by a force composed exclusively of Egyptians.

Sanders, against Guy Curtis, error; John Barton Payne, substituted for Walker D. Hines, as director general of railroads, against Charles H. Shappel, error.

Realty company, error and appeal, two cases; Frank Johnson against the State of Ohio, error; William M. Jones against George W. Luce, administrator of the estate of T. B. Mikesell, deceased, and others, error; G. J. Merrill against the State of Ohio, error; George C. Fraicht and others against Lola Shoemaker, error; Lima Trust company, as trustee, against Helen K. Sinclair and others, appeal.

30 ARRESTED.

CLEVELAND.—Thirty-six arrests were made up to early today in the first drive under orders of Mayor Fred Kohler to "clean up" the city. Twenty-four were booked as suspicious persons and twelve held for investigation.

Detective fans, follow the clues of the murderer in the "The Step on the Stairs" by Isabel Ostrander, complete in 12 installments. First installment in The Lima News Monday, January 16.

DRIVER WILL MAY NEVER BE PROBATED; MIND WAS UNSOUND, WITNESSES SAY

Will of Daniel Driver, late of Jackson, deceased, may never be probated in court.

According to statements filed in court by witnesses who attested the will, Driver was of unsound mind when he formulated the document in September, 1911.

Common pleas court may be called upon to decide validity of the will, caused by Driver's mental condition.

By provisions of the instrument, Jacob William Driver, of Beaverdam, a son, was given the farm of 77 acres in Jackson-tp. He was to pay each of the other five heirs $800. In case he was not able to pay the $4,500 cash, the son was to be given the portion of the farm.

Personal property was to be divided equally among the six children.

Indigestion or Sour, Gassy Stomach

"Pape's Diapiesin" gives Relief in Five Minutes

"Pape's Diapiesin" relieves stomach distress in five minutes. You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs. Pape's Diapiesin is noted for its speed in giving relief, its harmlessness, its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large sixty-cent case from any drug store, and then if you should eat something which doesn't agree with you, it what you eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapiesin comes in contact with the stomach all indigestion vanishes. It is the most efficient antacid known—the certainty and ease with which it overcomes stomach and digestive disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Adv.

MILLER IS GIVEN COMBINED JOB

City Engineer and Street Superintendent, in Public Work

An emergency ordinance designed to effect further savings in the city expense budget was enacted by the city commission Monday night when it combined the offices of city engineer and street superintendent into one, under the head of the Public Works department. Vaughn C. Miller, city engineer, will have charge of the department.

Josiah F. Jones, treasurer, was authorized to apply to the county auditor for an advance draw on the city's portion of the February, 1922, tax levy to the extent of two-thirds of the total amount, to meet present financial needs.

Annual reports of the city engineer, police and fire chiefs were read and ordered filed for reference. According to Miller's report, less than a mile and a half of street paving was built in Lima during 1921. The total cost of city street improvements for the year was $79,34.91. Pending contracts call for beginning of approximately $35,000 worth of city street improvements in the immediate future.

Fire Chief John C. Mack criticized the present fire alarm system, declaring it to be out of date, not in keeping with the size of the city and unreliable. Telephone service is often necessary to properly report fires, he said. The annual fire report contained much detail in new equipment, purchases and recommendations.

Howard L. Kay presented a claim of $318.80 for services in auditing the books of the Lima Natural Gas company, at the order of the city, in connection with the gas rate controversy. Dr. Frank Smith is an applicant for the position of surgeon to the safety department.

An old ordinance, relative to the use of streets where buildings are demolished or erected, was presented. Fee of $1 will be charged for permits of all kinds and deposits of $25 to $500 as a guarantee of observance of the terms of the ordinance.

By enactment of the commission, $2,000 of Manager Bingham's salary will be paid from the water works fund. Claims against the city, barred over from the former administration, were ordered taken care of. A number of petitions, for sewer extension, light installation and street opening, were presented.

For Your Back and Kidneys
You Will Have Vigorous Vitality if You Follow This Advice

Columbus, Ohio. — "Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets are the best medicine I have ever taken for kidney disorders. My kidneys were congested and inactive, my back ached and was so sore I could not bear to touch it. In addition to my kidneys hurting, my bladder was very weak. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice and upon his advice I took the Anuric Tablets and the result was wonderful. I had taken Anuric only a very short time when I was rid of all my kidney weakness and my kidneys became active and normal. I do not suffer any more with my back. I would advise those who suffer with any kidney disorder or bladder trouble to take 'Anuric' without delay." — Monford Slagle, 447 W. Rich St.

Help your weakened kidneys by obtaining this "Anuric" (anti-uric acid) of Dr. Pierce's at your nearest drug store or send 10c for trial pkg. to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., or write for free medical advice. — Adv.

FRANK HARPER INFORMED OF DEATH OF HIS MOTHER
THRU STORY IN THE NEWSMrs. Edna Harper, late of N. Jackson-st., will be buried in the state hospital cemetery in Toledo.

Without employment and too poor to arrange for shipment of the body of his mother here for burial, Frank Harper, son, authorized John B. Kephart, deputy in the probate court office, late Monday afternoon to order the superintendent of the Toledo state hospital to bury his mother there.

Frank was located thru a story which appeared in The Lima News Monday. All day authorities searched for him to inform him of his mother's death. He appeared at the probate office a few minutes after The News was on the street. Harper signed the letter giving the hospital the special privilege to bury his mother there. She was sent to that institution last March.

DEPRESSION MILITATES
AGAINST RELIEF FUND

Less than $4,000 of the quota of $12,000 set for Allen-co for relief of the suffering in Russia and Europe has been raised, according to N. L. Michael chairman of the Allen-co Jewish Appeal for War-Sufferers, Tuesday.

"The present industrial situation has had a great deal to do with the subscriptions to the fund, Michael declared. "We will later send out an appeal by letter in hope that a better response will be forthcoming." Results locally have been gratifying, despite the small amount raised so far, Michael said.

Edison Marshall

Copyright 1921 by Edison Marshall. All rights reserved.

Bill's bullet went straight home, tearing through the lungs, tearing the great arteries about the heart, shivering even a grizzly bear's skin. And yet the grizzly sprang like a demon through the deep snow, straight toward him.

Virginia's horrified eyes saw his fingers race as he worked the lever action of the gun. The bear seemed almost upon him. And she almost upon him as she heard the insistent click of the hammer against the breech. Bill had fired the single shot that was in the gun.

Before ever he heard the sound Harold remembered. In one wave of horror he realized that he had forgotten to refill the magazine with shells. Yet leaping fast—red and dead—upon the nearest of his remorses—there came an emotion that seemed like a wall of fire. He saw Bill's face.

Here was his enemy, the man he hated above all living creatures, and the blood still surged through him like a madness. In one wave of ecstasy he felt that he was about to see the gratification of his hatred.

In the hands of a brave and loyal man, the rifle Harold carried might yet have been Bill's salvation. Yet Harold didn't lift it to his shoulder. But at that instant Virginia remembered the pistol at her belt, and she drew it in a flash of blue steel. True and straight she aimed toward the glowing eyes of the grizzly.

At the angle that they struck, her bullet did not penetrate the brain; but they did give Bill an instant's reprieve. The bear struck at the wounds they made, then halted, bawling in the snow. His roving eye caught sight of Virginia's form.

With a roar he bounded toward her. The next instant was one of drama, of incredible stress and movement. For all his mortal wounds, the short distance between the bear and the girl seemed to recede with tragic swiftness.

Virginia stood her ground, firing shot after shot into the animal's head. Because it was an automatic she was able to send home the loads in rapid succession.

But Bill by now had found one of the extra shells Harold had given him. He dropped the shell into the gun. There was no time to raise the weapon to his shoulder. He pointed it instinctively toward the gray throat. And the end of the barrel was against the bear's flesh as he pressed the trigger.

No human eye could follow the lightning events of the next fraction of a second. One instant, and the three figures sat all together. Bill crushed with the rifle held pointed in his arms, Virginia behind him in the grizzly's fur upon them both. The next, and Harold stood alone in the snow and the silence—awed, terrified, and estranged as if in a dream.

Except for three forms that still half-buried and concealed in the drifts, it was as if the adventure had never occurred.

The bullet had gone true. It had pierced the animal's neck, breaking the vertebrae of the spinal column, and life had gone out of him as a flame goes out by the wind.

Bill was first to move. He had received only a glancing blow; the drifts in which he had fallen were soft as pillows. He crawled over to Virginia's side.

He seized her shoulders and shook her gently.

Instantly her eyes opened. Her full consciousness returned to her with a rush. She was not scratched, not even shocked by the fall, and she reached up quickly for Bill's hands. And instantly, with a laugh on her lips, she sprang to her feet.

"You killed him?" she asked.

"Bears all dead," he answered cheerfully.

In the weeks they had been together, Bill had always been careful never to try to show Harold a bad light. It was simply an expression of the inherent decency of the man. He knew that Virginia loved him, that she had pledged her troth to him, and as long as that love endured and the engagement stood, he would never try to shatter her ideals in regard to him.

But Harold had a sickening and ghastly fear of the sober query in Bill's eyes.

"Why did you give me an unloaded gun and tell me it was full?" Bill demanded. "Except for a good deal of luck there'd been a smile on the face of the grizzly—but no Bill!"

And by the way, he went on, as he waited for his reply, "I don't remember hearing your gun go off during the fray. You might explain that, too."

"I didn't shoot because I couldn't," Harold replied, earnestly. "At first you were between me and the bear—and then Virginia was, it all happened so quickly that there was nothing I could do. I can't imagine why I forgot to reload the rifle. A man can't always remember everything. Thank God that it didn't turn out any worse than it did."

Bill nodded; the girl's face showed unspeakable relief. They gathered about the gray grizzly form in the snow.

"Does this—help our food problem any?" Virginia asked.

"Except in an emergency—no. He's an old tough brute. Strong as mink and hard as rock. If we don't pick up some more meat during the day, I'll hike over to the Twenty-three mile cabin and get the supplies I've left over there. There's a smoke of caribou ham, among other things."

Bill then announced he'd like to find the grizzly's den. He felt sure it was near.

But Harold had very special and particular reasons why such a resource appealed to him not at all. "Yes—and maybe find a couple of other bears in there. In the dark and the chance to fight, I'm a bit interested."

"Go and look, if you like."

"I will, if you don't mind. Do you want to come, too, Virginia? There's no danger—really there isn't. If They exchanged rifles, and Virginia and Bill started back toward the fallen grizzly.

They back-tracked the bear thru the snow and came upon the cavern mouth.

Back five feet from the opening the interior was dark as night; the cavern walls, gray at the mouth, slowly paled and faded and were obliterated in the gloom. Bill was puzzled.

"This cave—I've never seen a cave just like this, Virginia."

The man stepped forward and scratched a match on the stone. It lit. Bill's breath caught in a sob.

Instantly he smothered the match. The darkness dropped around them like a curtain. But in that instant of light Bill beheld a scene that tore at his heart.

Against the cavern wall, long lost in the irremediable darkness, he saw set a strange, white shape—a ghostly thing that lay still and caught the match's gleam—a grim relic of dead years.

He turned to the girl, and his voice was almost steady when he spoke. "You'd better go out, Virginia—into the light," he advised.

"Why? Is it dangerous?"

"Not danger!" His voice in the silence thrilled her and moved her. "Only wickedness. But it isn't anything you'd like to see."

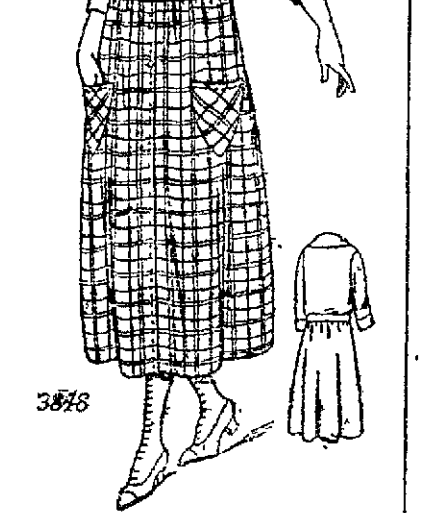

The single match-flare had revealed him the truth.

The thing he had seen was a naked skeleton, flesh and garments having dropped away in the years; and the grizzly had simply made his home in the old shaft of his father's mine. Bill had found his father's sepulcher at last!

"I believe I understand," she said. "You've found your mine—and your father's body."

"Yes. Just a skeleton," this had been an old she-bear who might have found some cubs, but

SEEK FRIEND IN HOUR OF NEED

"In the hour of need, no quickly seek our best friends," writes Chas. Schridt, Cal. ed. of the 357 13rd Ave. Oakland, Cal. "Our little boy and girl had a severe dry, rasping cough without phlegm, a cough that choked and flushed the face of the sufferer like unto convulsions. Foley's Honey and Tar was a wonderful emergency remedy. Cases like this give Foley's Honey and Tar its reputation as the best remedy for coughs and colds."—Chas. J. Vorkamp, Main and McKibben-sts.—Adv.

these old males travel around by themselves."

"We'll be back in a minute, Harold. And if you don't mind—I'll take my own gun."

"I'm not afraid. Don't you want me to stay?"

"I'd love to have you, if you will. Someway—it takes away a lot of my bitterness—to have you here."

He made another light.

They stood together, looking down at the skeleton. But she wasn't quite prepared for what she saw. A little cry of horror rang strangely in the dark shaft.

This had been no natural death. Undoubtedly, the elder Bronson had been struck down from behind, as he worked, and he lay just as he fell. There was one wound in the skull, round and ghastly, and in a moment they saw the weapon that made it. A rusted pick, such as miners use, lay beside the body.

"I won't try to do much today," the man told her, "except to set up one of my cornerposts and erect a claim notice."

He held the light close, studying the rear wall of the cave. It was simply a gravel bed, verifying his guess that here lay an old bed of the creek. In the first handful of stone he scraped out he found a half-ounce nugget.

"It's rich?" she asked.

"Beyond what I ever dreamed. But there's nothing more we can do now. I'm made my find at last—but it doesn't seem to make me—as happy as it ought to. Of course, that's right—there against the wall—would naturally keep a man from being very happy. Oh, if I could only find and kill the devil who did it!"

He was setting his claim marks when Harold came rushing toward them.

So intent were they upon their work that they didn't notice him until he was almost up to them.

"You've found a mine?" he guessed.

Virginia looked up, joyful at Bill's good fortune. "We've found his father's mine—the old shaft where the bear has been sleeping. But there's a dreadful side of it, too."

"Show me where it is. I wanted to see it. Take me into it, Virginia—right away."

They started together.

QUEER STEEDS

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Instantly their steeds started down the road.

THE two balloons scurried Nancy and Nick for pins or for any sharp things that might hurt the people in their country, but all they found was Nick's little pen knife which they said he could keep if he would promise not to open it.

"Well, that's over!" said Bucking the fairman. "Now please run and get our steeds. Nancy and Nick and I have many places to go and we are just getting started. Off with you, Blue Jumper and Reddy Bounce! Go to my stables in the town of Balloonsville and bring us something to ride upon."

Away bounced the fat jolly balloons and in a second or two they were back with three large Fourth of July balloons made of paper, each one puffed out with importance, and "saddled and bridled and ready to go."

"Hop on, kiddies!" called Bucking, springing to the back of the green paper elephant.

"Don't be afraid. These creatures are stronger than they appear to be. Like everything else in Fairland, their appearance is deceiving and Paisy Pink—Eye and Bowsey Blue—will take you anywhere you wish to go."

So Nancy scrambled upon the pig (which bore her plump weight very nicely) and Nick settled himself on the blue poodle.

Instantly their steeds started down the road, covering the ground at a wonderful gait, Blue Jumper and Reddy Bounce bounding along in the rear.

"Where are we going?" called Nancy bumpily to Bucking who was leading the procession.

"To the nursery," called back Bucking. "It's about a mile ahead to the left. Just follow me."

So they all galloped on. Nick looked back once over his shoulder to see what had become of the little elevator. It was patiently waiting.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

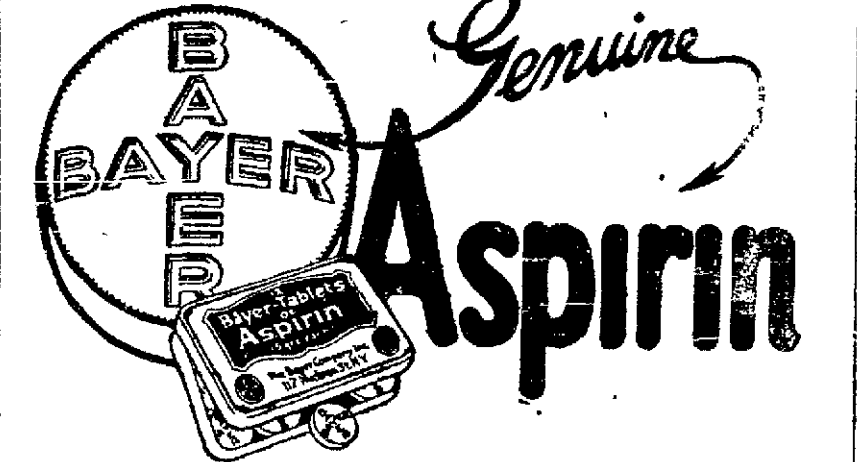

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself as I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."

Mother and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

Mother—daughters, why not try it?

EMERSON, LOOS PUT MUSIC FARCE INTO MOVIE

(BY ESTHER WAGNER.)

JOHN Emerson and Anita Loos, who have been responsible for many clever scenarios, are now producing a musical farce, "Red Hot Romance," which is a fair sample of their ingenuity. This picture is the old-fashioned musical farce adapted to the screen. The stories of musical farces are usually negligible. Music is their essential ingredient. Therefore, it is unlikely that there will be a vogue of musical farce adaptations to the screen.

The virtue of this picture is that it is the first one of its kind. New has been made of familiar material—like Sonnybub's breeches cut down from Dad's.

A lounge lizard inherits a Fifth Avenue mansion and an income of $50 a week for the first year. His black servant is his major domo. The major domo hooks various household articles to furnish his master with funds.

An ivory elephant is sold for funds to buy the hero's sweetheart orchids.

Lyric's Double Bill a Successful One

WILLIAM Allen White's story "A Certain Rich Man" has been filmed in a forceful and dignified manner, bringing home its lesson severely. It is, in fact, one of the year's good photoplays and will, above all else, stand the test of time. I'm sure you will remember it long after you have seen it.

The story is a dramatic, rather tragic affair. The rich man of the story, by sheer will power and heartiness, becomes a power in the financial world. To him the almighty dollar comes first; the finer things of life follow next. And it comes about that to gain his ends, a lovely, trusting young girl and her lover are parted because more lure will be gained by her marrying another. So, the wedding takes place. Years pass, and John Barclay is a still higher power; yet he is not happy. The unhappily married one remains true to her husband, although her love for Bob Hendricks, has never died. And so things move along. In the end, the great man finds that money isn't everything, and to the best of his ability, he makes amends. To help along the good work, the objectionable husband passes out, leaving the now free but slightly aged girl-lover in the possession of the long-waiting

Carleton's "Farm Ballads" Filmed

WILL Carleton, long dead, has come to life again. The spirit of the man who sang more convincingly than any other poet of the homely things of life is finding expression in the living, breathing creations that flit across the motion picture screen, swaying audiences as no other film subject ever swayed them before. The picture is the William Fox production "Over the Hill," made from Will Carleton's wonderful "Farm Ballads." It will be seen at the Sigma theatre all next week.

It touched the heart of New York as no film ever had touched it before. Its exposition of the plucky, homely virtues was so powerful that

When he calls with the posies, his rival appears with the elephant. The girl ignores the flowers. The elephant was just what she wanted. That is a typical Emerson-Loos twist.

At the end of the first year the attorney arrives to read the will. One chair is all that is left in the house. That is sold to pay for the taxi that brought the attorney, the heir expecting to enjoy the fortune immediately.

The will provides that the son shall be given an income of $25 a week and a job as insurance solicitor. If none of his risks result in loss in the ensuing year he is to come into the fortune.

One interesting thing about "Red Hot Romance" is a new combination of actors. Basil Sydney the English actor, is the hero. May Collins is the heroine. Frank Lahr, Snitz Edwards, Olive Valerie, Carl Stockdale, Roy Atwell and Henry Warwick are others not often seen together in pictures.

The story, as I remember it, was one of the most enthralling books I ever read. Its theme of self-sacrifice and the lesson it teaches are unforgettable. In the beginning, the picture is laid in the late eighties, and you may think you're seeing an old picture, etc. Well, you're not. That's the kind of clothes they wore then. Later on, a picture is brought up to 1921 or thereabouts.

Robert McKim is at his best in the role of the rich man; Claire Adams is sweet and appealing as the girl who gives up everything to save her lover from ruin. Others in the cast are well-chosen.

"A Certain Rich Man" is really a family picture. And while it's a little long, you'll enjoy every foot of it.

On the same program at the Lyric appear Domingo's Serenaders, a splendid company of Filipino musicians whose repertoire ranges from opera to jazz. The violin numbers by Mr. Domingo are especially beautiful; the jazz number by the entire ensemble are snappy and up to the minute and the finale, a hula-hula dance, completes a musical program that is excellent through.

This double bill at the Lyric will be in progress until Thursday.

The most callous and hardened critic felt its mighty force. It rocked them with laughter one, minute and stirred their souls. The picture broke all records in New York.

MOTOR MEN WORK MIRACLES

Many Towns Put on the Map by Auto Pioneers

ITIES MADE OF HAMLETS

Amazing Accomplishments Pointed Out by Forbes

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK—Special—Is the pioneering spirit dead in America? Has it ceased? Not at all.

Pioneering no longer takes the form of fighting wild Indians or wild beasts, penetrating regions untraveled by white men, taming virgin forests, pushing railway tracks into inaccessible wilds.

Pioneering today takes a different form.

Take, for example, the pioneering that has been accomplished in the last twenty years, and is still being energetically accomplished, by leaders in the automobile industry.

How many towns and cities have been put on the map by able, aggressive far-seeing upbuilders in the automobile industry?

And how many other towns and cities which were moribund have been brought back to activity and prosperity thru the establishment in their midst of a dynamic automobile plant?

As a matter of fact, what would have been the last generation of nothing short of miracles has been accomplished in many parts of the country.

Think of what M. C. Durant did at Flint, Mich. Toledo was very much of a teaming, hustling city before M. C. Durant invaded it and set going his mammoth Willys-Overland works. Muncie, Ind., owes much to Wm. W. Warner, who, like Kokomo, Ind., has been made ahead by the energetic activities of A. C. Seligman.

Where can there be found in America a place to match Comersville, Ind., the home of the Lexington Motor companies and half a score of other plants founded by E. C. Ansted and his close associates? C. Harold Willis is transforming Hartsville, Mich., from a sleepy hamlet to a modern, model city with his Willis St. Clair automobile works and the activities which are springing up in connection therewith.

Clarence A. Earl has tackled a similar undertaking at Jackson, Mich., a stroke of enterprise which is exciting keen interest thruout the whole automobile industry. Then there is Edward Verhulden and his building of Lansing, Mich., a work that is now being carried on thru the production of the Durant car.

Kenosha, Wis., owes its place in the auto to C. W. Nash more than any other human being. Just as Kenosha, Mich., was taken in hand and become by the enterprising activities of Fred Warner with his Oakland car. The Clark family did the same thing for Buchanan, Mich., with the Clark Equipment company, another enterprising enterprise identified with the automobile industry. The development of Bloomington, Ill., is its origin in the glass requirements of automobile manufacturers.

The amazing growth of Akron, Ohio, has been due very largely to the location of the tire industry here and especially to the colossal plant built and developed by F. A. Seiberling, who, by the way, has reentered the ring at other points and promises to become again a big figure in the tire field.

One could not begin to mention cities like Detroit, which have owed much of their expansion during the last dozen years to the establishment in their midst of automobile plants or works for the production of automobiles and accessories. Such cities dot the eastern half of the United States.

Everybody is familiar with what the United States Steel corporation has done at Gary, Ind., in the way of taking hold of a stretch of neglected shore front and transforming it into a hive of industry, employing many thousands of bread winners. But automobile giants have done the same thing at many points of the compass, or course, not at the same scale. Their activities, however, have called for the spirit of the pioneer, the vision of the pioneer, the faith of the pioneer, and the unsparring industry of the pioneer.

Twenty years ago the automobile industry, it may be said, didn't exist. Today there are approximately 6,000,000 automobiles in the United States. Some two million cars and trucks were produced in 1920 and 1,600,000 even during last year's business depression. Over a quarter of a million workers are engaged in manufacturing cars and trucks. To keep our cars and trucks going calls for 5,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline a year.

All this could not have been accomplished—not one-half of it—had it not been accomplished—and the pioneer spirit been as dead as many people imagine it to be. It is a different form from the pioneering of a generation ago.

STOCKS AGAIN ON DOWN MOVE

Lowest Money in Three Years Ignored by Market

(Courtesy The Wheatley Co.)

First 1/4	98.20
Second 1/4	97.40
Third 1/4	97.20
Fourth 1/4	97.00
Victory 1/4	100.10

NEW YORK—Shorts pressed their recent advantage at the opening of today's stock market, provoking further severe losses thruout the list. Within the first half hour declines of 1 to 2 1/2 points were made by prominent oils, coals, shipbuilding and druggists.

Marked heaviness was shown by Mexican and Pan-American petroleum, General Asphalt, Burns Brothers, Atlantic Gulf and St. Paul preferred, Studebaker, Kelly Springfield, Crucible, Baldwin, Erie, Reading and Missouri Pacific also were lower by fractions to one point. Inactive issues, including Montana Power and Wells Fargo Express were among the few firm favorites.

Oils, shippings and equipments added to their losses during the first hour. Chemicals, tobaccos and kindred specialties also were affected, losing 1/2 to 2 points. Food and leather shares were depressed, Wilson Packing losing 1 1/2 points.

The market rallied irregularly before noon, steadiness being imparted by the 3 1/2 per cent opening rate for call money. This is the lowest initial quotation in over three years.

The railway list was dull and irregular, aside from Erie issues which averaged point rallies from yesterday's final prices. Victory 3 3/4's featured the bond market at the high record of $100.10.

A block of a million of the Victory 3 3/4's also sold at $100.10, duplicating its recent high record.

Speculative stocks, especially oils and miscellaneous specialties, were subjected to further liquidation today. The market again ignored low money rates and stronger foreign exchanges. Sales approximated 550,000 shares.

The closing was irregular. Government bonds were strong, as were also investment rails.

REMEDY SEEN IN RUSSIAN TRADE

Will Bring Normalcy, Maryland Senator Declares

(BY JOSEPH L. FRANCE)

United States Senator From Maryland WASHINGTON.—American agriculture suffers because overproduction has forced prices down.

Russia is in the throes of famine, her people dying by millions.

There is a situation the solution of which would reveal real statesmanship.

Certainly there is somewhere a great lack of statesmanship, of ability to meet problems when we are unable to find or evolve the financial machinery necessary to make the world's surplus meet the world's needs.

And not until such a solution is found will trade and business and industry revive and true peace come again to man.

WISE POLICY NEEDED.

A wise American policy, a policy which would seek not only the relief of the Russian people but the relief of our own people would be the formulation of plans under which the vast natural wealth of Russia could be used as a basis of credit whereby Russia could buy food, seeds, agricultural implements and machinery she needs for restoration of her productive power.

Russia today is in ruin because of her sacrifices in the World War. She needs charity, mercy, justice. She has abandoned her impossible theories of communism, and she needs all we can send her in the way of agricultural products and manufactured goods.

If by conference we can settle the arguments of the world may we not, by conference, be able to settle trade relationships which mean so much to the welfare of both nations?

WHEAT DECLINES THREE CENTS

Rains in Southwest Lower Prices—Close is Heavy

CHICAGO—Fresh declines in the price of wheat took place in the early trading today, largely as a result of rains in the southwest.

Opinions were expressed that the moisture would prove to be the salvation of the Kansas crop. On the other hand, strength in foreign exchange was virtually ignored. Initial prices which ranged from 1-4 to 3-4c lower with May $1.11 to 1.11 1/4 and July $1.00 1/2 to 1.00 3/4, were followed by a moderate additional setback.

Enlarged country offerings of corn had a bearish effect on the corn market and on oats as well. After opening to 1-4 lower, May 53 1/4 to 53 3/8, corn continued to sag.

Oats started unchanged to a shade lower, May 38 5/8 to 3-4 to 38 3/4 and then weakened a bit more.

Notwithstanding downturns in the hog market, provisions showed firmness because of lack of any aggressive selling.

The meat close was heavy, 2 5/8 to 3 cents net lower with May 1.08 1/4 to 1.09 and July 98 1/8 to 98 1/4.

The corn close was easy at 12 to 3-4c net decline May 52 3/4.

WHAT IN 1922?

Better Times Coming Say Men Interviewed by News

By IRVING T. BUSH President, Bush Terminal Company

W e are going to have better times but we are not going to have a boom. The constitution of the United States has had a severe strain but it has stood the test.

Just be cheerful and patient and reasonable. Trade has been very sick but the marvelous recuperative powers of Americans will pull the patient thru.

Let the convalescence take its orderly course. 24 1/2 and tonics will do more harm than good. Give business all the exercise it will stand but don't overdo it. Trust to the soundness of our constitution and our economic strength.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Charles Grady, salesman at the Rowlands furniture, a friend tells, is still carrying the refrain of a soapy taste in his mouth. Grady was presented with a tube of shaving cream at a drug store, laid it away with his shaving outfit and the next morning used it to cleanse his teeth. "It may be perfectly good shaving soap," Grady asserts, "but as tooth paste, I don't think much of it."

J. H. Hamilton, probate judge, asked his 13-year-old son to write a list of what he wanted for Christmas.

"Ten dollars worth of hot dogs" was one item, reports Hamilton. "School boys had started a contest to see who could eat the most hot dogs at recess. Hamilton says his boy won with a score of ten to his credit."

Branson Harley Holmes, noted Lima musician, had a friend visiting him, whom he invited to go to a concert. The friend was asked how he liked the singer's voice.

"I'm no judge of her voice," he said, "but she's got a fine set of teeth."

Fred Wallace, athletic director of Lima schools, says all automobiles look alike to him when they are wrecked. He came up behind the spot where he left his car parked at the curb, and found the rear end of the car was caved in. "I was climbing into it to drive away," says he, "when I discovered that it was some stranger's car, and that mine was standing just ahead."

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ pounces of Pinex from any drugstore, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and rouses the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonsful will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multisified coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Sure Way To Get Rid Of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and it is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon and apply it at night when retiring; it is enough to moisten the scalp and rub in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces is all you will need. This sure remedy has never been known to fail.
